About Total Management and Training

Our Mission

TMT is committed to providing training and education in a professional environment to equip participants with the skills and knowledge required to meet defined standards informed by industry requirements.

Our Quality Endorsement

TMT is a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) operating within the VET Quality Framework. This Framework comprises:

- * Standards for Registered Training Organisations
- * Fit and Proper Person Requirements
- * Financial Viability Risk Assessment Requirements
- * Data Provision Requirements
- * Australian Qualifications Framework

TMT values openness, honesty, tolerance, fairness and responsibility in social, moral and academic matters.

Australian Qualifications Framework

The Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) is a comprehensive, nationally consistent framework for all qualifications in post compulsory education and training.

Qualifications issued by Total Management and Training are recognised by relevant professional bodies throughout Australia. The AQF Levels define the relative complexity and depth of achievement and the level of autonomy required of participants to demonstrate that achievement. Each level is further defined by the knowledge required and understood by a participant. This knowledge is described in terms of the breadth, depth and complexity of skills that will be developed during the course of study.

The following table outlines the 10 different levels within the AQF and a summary of the knowledge and skills required for each of these levels.

Level	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4	Level 5
Summary	Graduates at this level will have knowledge and skills for initial work, community involvement and/or further learning	Graduates at this level will have knowledge and skills for work in a defined context and/or further learning	Graduates at this level will have theoretical and practical knowledge and skills for work and/or further learning	Graduates at this level will have theoretical and practical knowledge and skills for specialised and/or skilled work and/or further learning	Graduates at this level will have specialised knowledge and skills for skilled/paraprofessional work and/or further learning

Vocational Education and Training

VET stands for Vocational Education and Training. Its aim is to produce a workforce with the skills and knowledge needed by industry. Our organisation is registered to provide VET qualifications. These qualifications are based on National Training Packages and Accredited Courses and will be recognised throughout Australia both by employers and by other Registered Training Organisations (e.g. TAFE colleges, private providers).

Competency Based Training and Assessment

Competency Based Training (CBT) is an approach to vocational education and training which places emphasis on what a person can actually do in the workplace as a result of completing a course of study or a training program. CBT is a flexible form of education/ training which aims to produce a workforce with the skills and knowledge required by industry.

Most assessment in schools and universities is criteria based. This type of assessment judges how well you can do something in comparison to others, and awards a grade (e.g. A – E, 1 – 5, High Distinction – Fail, etc.). However, for your VET units of competency you will not receive a grade. As you complete questions, tasks and activities working towards that competence, you will receive results of either satisfactory or not yet satisfactory for each question, activity or task completed. Once all tasks are complete, you are assessed as either competent or not yet competent in the learning outcomes which make up each module. This means you will be given more than one opportunity to achieve competency.

(A good comparison is with a Driver's License. This does not grade your ability as a driver – it simply shows that you are competent to drive. If you don't pass your first test you can try again until you do.) Competencies are often assessed in the workplace or in a simulated workplace environment.

Accreditation

Most courses delivered by Total Management and Training are nationally accredited. The awards given for completion of an accredited module or an accredited course are recognised throughout Australia and can be used for employment purposes. Non-accredited courses, e.g. workshops and short courses, may be delivered to meet the needs of a specific business. For these courses, participants will receive a Statement of Completion or Attendance.

Course Enrolment

The enrolment process may vary according to your individual circumstances. Entry requirements can be dependent on the type of enrolment and/or qualification of the course you are undertaking. You will be assisted through this process by our friendly staff.

- * By signing the enrolment and training contract, you acknowledge you have read this student handbook and understand your rights and obligations.
- * Once TMT has processed your enrolment you will be notified via email.
- * It is your responsibility to ensure that our office is informed of any change of circumstances including mailing address, contact details (including email address), and employer. You may be required to provide additional evidence as to your identity or eligibility to enrol in specific, or funded courses.

- * You must advise TMT if you have any special needs concerning your training.
- * If you are seeking Recognition of Prior Learning or Credit for previous academic studies please advise us, so you can be provided the appropriate documentation.
- * Please ensure you print your name clearly, and check all personal details (including your full name) as this is the name which will appear on your certificate.
- * Some higher-level courses may require a short assessment in language, literacy and numeracy.
- * Some courses may have a pre-requisite which needs to be achieved prior to enrolment.

Payment of Fees

- * Course fees are outlined to you prior to enrolment and are disclosed on our webpage.
- * Additional charges are outlined in this handbook in Appendix 1.
- * Our Training and Enrolment Agreement confirms you have read and understood these charges.
- * As an RTO, we are prohibited to hold more than $1500 of prepaid student fees for individuals (Note: this does not apply to companies or organisations). We ensure this does not occur through the following ways:
 1. We only charge a deposit of $1500 prior to the delivery of any training or providing any support services.
 2. If the individual undertakes classroom or self-paced study – we charge the balance when you are halfway through your enrolment.
- * TMT uses a Third Party to manage Payment Plans. Payment Plans incur additional fees and charges.
- * Non-payment of fees may result in restriction of attendance, or withholding the issuance of your Qualification Certificate or Statement of Attainment.
- * Receipts will be issued on request.

Study Methods

Total Management and Training offer various teaching and learning delivery methods for the completion of courses and qualifications. This can include face-to-face delivery, on-site (at your workplace) or self-paced learning where you complete in your own time. The method of training to be undertaken relevant to a course will be confirmed with participants at the time of enrolment into the specified course.

You should keep a diary to remind you of any important deadlines you must meet, such as workshops and due dates of assignments. Make sure if you have attended class, you commence your assessments as soon as you can afterwards, whilst the information is fresh in your mind. Set a time for yourself to study regularly. Through assessments, you will be able to monitor your own progress and see whether you need to spend more time studying. Make notes which are clear and easy to understand. Keep any paperwork organised, and in order.

Whilst trainers will make every attempt to assist you with your study and assessments, it is the sole responsibility of each participant to progress through assessments and submit them for marking in a timely manner. For self-paced learning, whilst there are no set deadlines for the completion of assessment activities, participants are encouraged to complete and submit assessments for each module/unit on a regular basis.

For some of our qualification students, TMT will provide a Qualification Completion Plan or Training Plan with recommended submission dates to help keep you on track with your studies. Review these plans regularly and be very mindful of the expected date of completion (which is your enrolment expiry date).

Timeframes

Students undertaking short courses will generally complete on the day. Where there is post-course assessment tasks, it is anticipated these will be completed and returned within 2 weeks of completion of the training. As the name implies, where there are pre-requisites for a course, these must be completed prior to training.

Please note for those undertaking full qualifications, TMT provides specific timeframes for the completion of your qualification, so it is important you regularly submit work over this period of time, to enable us to see progress in your studies. Please ensure that all assessments are submitted 2 weeks prior to your completion date, to allow time for marking and resubmissions if required.

Students who require longer to complete may apply for an extension, however you must show progress in your studies in the preceding year of enrolment to enable an extension to be made, and this is at the discretion of TMT. There are fees associated with course extensions and are outlined in Appendix 1 – Fees and Charges.

The time taken to complete qualifications will vary from student to student due to the amount of prior knowledge and skill of each individual, as well as each person's personal circumstances, such as the amount of time they can put aside to study.

The Volume of Learning is a guide to the time it may take to finish a qualification. Duration of study may be shorter for participants with existing similar qualifications, skills, experience or RPL application; or be longer if additional training and assessment in workplace specific procedures is required; therefore the volume of learning may vary dramatically due to individual circumstances.

AQF Level I	AQF Level II	AQF Level III	AQF Level IV	AQF Diploma	AQF Adv. Diploma
0.5 – 1 year	0.5 – 1 year	0.5 – 1 year up to 4 years if indentured	0.5 – 2 years	1 – 2 years	1.5 – 2 years

Please note if you do not finish your studies within the allocated timeframe, and have not shown any progression in study during the time you have been enrolled (i.e. submission of assessments), we may not allow any extension, even if requested.

Those who have shown no progression in their studies and who have not sought an extension will have their enrolment closed on enrolment expiry. Those who contact TMT within 6 months of their end date, and request re-enrolment will be charged a re-enrolment fee (see Appendix 1 for our fee schedule). After 6 months, any requests for re-enrolment will incur full payment of fees.

Deferral or Suspension

Students may defer or suspend their training if TMT has been informed of personal circumstances which have affected your ability to complete your studies in the allocated timeframe. You may defer or suspend your studies for a total of 6 months. TMT must be contacted prior to your completion date. Students must complete a Deferral/Suspension form which will be provided to students on request.

Student Support

TMT offers Get it Done Sessions to their Qualification students. These sessions allow students to work in our student study room (equipped with computers) and have access to a trainer for questions/assistance. These sessions can be viewed and booked through our website.

Student support appointments are also available to those undertaking full Qualifications. These appointments offer students a valuable face to face meeting with a trainer to discuss or clarify any questions, issues or concerns they may have directly relating to their studies.

Learning Materials

Enrolment in units of competency without learning materials will only occur under the following circumstances:

- * You are applying for Recognition of Prior Learning and do not require materials.
- * You are enrolling into a unit that does not require learning materials. For example, workshops and/or practical classes.
- * You are re-enrolling in the same unit/subject where materials are still current.

Any requests to enrol without the purchase of learning materials for reasons other than those noted above must be submitted to management.

Assessment

The assessment of a participant's competency will be carried out as per the principles of assessment. The objective of training delivery is to provide each participant with an outcome suitable to his or her chosen career path. Upon completion, each participant will have a wide base of transferable skills relevant to this path and consistent with the training and assessment objectives. Participants who meet the competency standards will gain nationally recognised statements of attainment, or qualifications.

TMT commits to delivering a socially responsible assessment system that is fair and equitable for all clients. Fairness includes being culturally responsible, which means the assessment system needs to be flexible.

Assessment activities can include:

- * Demonstration / Simulation
- * Practical Exercise
- * Project Work
- * Oral / Written Assessment or Examination

- * Portfolio
- * Group Discussion
- * Observed in Workplace
- * Observed in Simulation

TMT undertakes to systematically validate and review course content, instructional strategies, and assessment procedures and make any changes, as identified, to improve the outcomes of the client.

Issuing your Certificates

Students will be issued with their Statement of Attainment, or Qualification Certificate and a transcript of their results once:

- * All assessments across the full qualification have been submitted.
- * The assessor has deemed the participant satisfactory for all assessments completed, and competent in all units within the qualification or area of study.
- * All outstanding course fees are paid in full and finalised.
- * USI number has been provided.

Competency for units will be granted once the assessor deems that the student has met the applicable assessment criteria.

For those undertaking non-accredited training, Statements of Completion or Attendance will be issued to those who:

- * Attend the course
- * Have paid in full and finalised all outstanding course fees

Course and qualification certificates and statements of attainment or attendance will be sent electronically to the email address provided on your enrolment and training agreement. Qualification certificates will also be posted to you, TMT will contact you when you complete, to confirm your postal address.

Digital copies of your certificates will also be sent to your employer if they paid for your training. Please inform TMT if you don't want this to occur.

Re-assessment

Participants generally have three attempts to show their competence (i.e. can attempt assessment tasks three times). Those who have not reached competence in a unit / module after three attempts may request a re-assessment of competency, however the payment of an additional fee may be required. Please discuss this with TMT management should this be the case.

Accelerated Progression

Accelerated progression (or fast tracking) requires the completion of all designated assessment requirements for a particular unit and must be negotiated with the trainer. No special applications or processes are required and normal enrolment fees apply.

Note: Accelerated progression is NOT an RPL or credit transfer process.

Special Consideration

Participants who suffer disability, health problems, grief or trauma need to discuss their needs with their trainer or management. There are a range of actions TMT can take to assist participants manage the impacts upon their work. However, the work that participants actually produce must be the work upon which decisions are made concerning results.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

RPL is the acknowledgment of your current skills and knowledge obtained through life experiences, work experience, education and/or previous training. For example, you may have taught yourself to type using a software program at home, been shown how to do something by a colleague, or attended a community course.

If you wish to apply for RPL, please request an RPL kit for the particular course or qualification you are interested in. The RPL kit will indicate the evidence you will need to provide to support your application for RPL. Once you have received your RPL kit and reviewed the evidence required, if you believe you have evidence which is sufficient, current, valid and authentic, you will be required to attend an interview to discuss your application with a trainer (either over the phone or in person).

After the trainer interview, you will be required to gather your evidence, compile an evidence register and indicate where your evidence shows your competency throughout the RPL kit. Once you have completed the RPL kit this should be submitted to TMT along with your evidence, an enrolment form and enrolment fee.

If you have enough evidence to support all criteria of the qualification, you will be issued with the appropriate qualification, statement of attainment, certificate or other applicable documentation.

If your evidence does not support the application, due to it not being commensurate with the criteria being assessed, or being outdated, not authentic or not enough, your trainer will advise you and you may need to:

- * submit further evidence (guided by your assessor)
- * undertake gap training if there are only a few areas which are not covered, or
- * undertake a full course of study if there are too many gaps to support RPL

Is RPL an easy option?

Please note the assessment of RPL applications is an arduous process and generally takes more training time than actually training the competencies, therefore this process is not a 'cheap' option and the fees are generally not discounted. It can often take more time for a student to compile RPL evidence and match it to the course criteria than it takes to study the qualification, so please use RPL wisely.

Therefore, undertaking an RPL process is not necessarily an 'easy' way to get a qualification. It is not a matter of time served or amount of experience you have, but the specific and relevant learning which can be assessed according to the set competency standards. Participants need to be committed to supporting their case by locating and providing suitable evidence and documentation. This often requires a significant effort.

Evidence provided must be:

- * current (i.e. not older than 5 years)
- * authentic (evidence must demonstrate your personal input into the process)
- * valid (it must address the competencies you are applying it to)
- * sufficient (enough evidence to show competency over time)

Overseas Qualifications

Your documents and qualifications will need to be certified, and must be in English or translated into English. If you are seeking RPL and you cannot provide sufficient documentation other than the qualification being put forward, you may be required to demonstrate competency by other means.

Recognition of Qualifications issued by other RTOs

Total Management and Training recognises AQF qualifications and statements of attainments issued by other registered training organisations throughout Australia. This is based on provision of an official transcript. The previous study must be equivalent to the outcomes of the courses requested. For credit transfer of units/modules completed at another organisation, please contact us.

Grievances or Appeals Process

If you are not satisfied with an academic decision or a procedural matter, you have the right to complain or appeal in the following manner:

- * Informal approach made to the assessor concerned if it is an academic appeal. This is always the best first step, as often a satisfactory resolution can be made in the first instance.
- * If you are still dissatisfied with a decision, you may appeal in writing to the Operations Manager who will conduct a formal review, and may get another assessor to review your submissions. Please use the grievances form which is available on the TMT website.
- * Where the grievance is not related to study or assessment, the Operations Manager will conduct an investigation into the grievance, and provide a written response of the outcome.
- * If still dissatisfied, you can request a hearing with an external independent person. This will be organised by Total Management and Training on your behalf, and may incur fees.

If, after the above steps are completed, you are still not satisfied with the outcome or the process, you may contact the National Training Complaints Hotline on 13 38 73 or email them at NTCH@education.gov.au and lodge a formal complaint outside of TMT.

Suggestions, Problems and Grievances

TMT encourage all feedback, both positive and negative, suggestions and complaints! If you have a problem, feedback, complaint or suggestion which you feel we should know about, please approach any staff member for either a feedback sheet, or a grievances form.

Dress

No uniform is set, in keeping with the adult-orientation of TMT, but participants should dress appropriately. Some training and/or assessment may demand certain clothing to meet industry standard requirements or for safety reasons, such as long sleeve shirts and enclosed shoes.

Attendance

It is possible that frequent absences could jeopardise a participant's performance in a particular course. Unfortunately poor attendance, even if for genuine reasons, may mean that performance criteria for a qualification are ultimately not met by a participant, leading to non-completion of a course.

In order to validate their situation where participants may need some special consideration, it is recommended that participants obtain a doctor's certificate for extended absences, or a series of frequent shorter absences, due to illness.

Attendance may also be requested from time to time at information sessions (meetings) and other activities, e.g.: field trips. Records are kept of attendance/contact at training and assessment sessions.

Medical Emergencies

Please ensure you advise staff if you have a medical condition which may affect your participation or attendance at TMT. Also ensure you fill in the emergency contact information on your enrolment form to enable TMT staff to contact your family or emergency contact person in the event of a medical occurrence.

Should a medical emergency arise for someone else whilst you are at TMT, you should protect yourself from any danger, ensure bystanders are not at risk, and then look at assisting the casualty if you are suitably qualified to do so. DO NOT MOVE THE CASUALTY unless they are in direct danger and you are qualified to do so. Notify a staff member immediately. Any staff member will know who to contact and the procedures to follow.

Evacuation Procedure

During the induction of the course, the trainer will explain and outline the Evacuation Procedure in the event of an emergency occurring. During this time, the trainer will identify and point out the location of all emergency exits, the assembly point and the route to be taken to this area in the event that an evacuation is to occur. In the event of an evacuation, students must adhere to all directions and instructions given by the trainers, evacuation coordinators and/or TMT Staff. Your trainer will take with them the attendance sheet for the classroom.

Go to the nearest fire exit in an orderly fashion, leaving behind equipment and possessions - do not rush. Follow any instructions issued by fire wardens and close any doors on the way out. Be prepared to assist people with a disability, people who are injured, or elderly people.

Once at the assembly point, you should remain in your groups to assist the verification of the whereabouts of all persons. The buildings must not be re-entered until you have been instructed to do so. Your trainer will be the last to leave the room and will follow your group to the evacuation area.

Summary of your Rights and Responsibilities

The emphasis at TMT is on participants exercising rules of common sense and common courtesy.

As a participant it is your responsibility to:

- * treat all people, and their property, with respect and consideration
- * attend all classes punctually
- * observe normal safety practices
- * participate in scheduled assessment events and submit written assessment items on time
- * participate fully in all curriculum activities, and allow others to do the same
- * not engage in plagiarism or cheating in any assessment or test, and provide authentic original assessment evidence
- * behave in a responsible manner i.e. no littering, harassing or offending fellow participants or staff, or damaging property

These are adult responsibilities which must be met. If they are not met, then a participant may be required to explain why his/her place should remain open. Participants may be removed from a course of study at the discretion of TMT if the above responsibilities are ignored or breached.

As a participant you are entitled to:

- * be treated fairly, with consideration and respect
- * be given guidelines of work expected
- * be informed of assessment procedures, including your right to have existing skills recognised
- * learn in an environment free of discrimination and harassment
- * pursue your educational goals in a supportive and stimulating environment
- * be given help and support to cope with both the work and TMT learning environment
- * be referred to services such as counselling and language support

Access and Equity

All persons have the right to study or work in an environment free of harassment and discrimination. The Queensland Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 was enacted to promote fair treatment and equality of opportunity by making unfair discrimination and harassment (sexual or otherwise) against the law.

Access and Equity at Total Management and Training means studying in a learning environment free of discrimination and harassment. It means you have rights related to how you are treated and responsibilities related to how you treat others.

Access and Equity is aimed at preventing discrimination on the basis of race, culture, religion, political affiliation, language, age, gender, disability or health status, financial disadvantage, marital status, pregnancy, parent / carer status, or lawful sexual orientation.

How can you help to create a positive environment?

As a participant you have the right to be treated fairly and you have the responsibility to treat others fairly. It is expected that you will treat others with dignity and respect, just as you would wish to be treated with respect from others. At Total Management and Training we are a diverse group of people - both TMT personnel and participants.

This means that we all have to work with people who are different from us. Training is a great opportunity to learn about different cultures, value systems, ways of doing things etc. While staff has responsibilities to make sure no-one is harassed or discriminated against, you as participants have a lot of influence over how other participants feel about being here at Total Management and Training.

Some of the things you can choose to do to make the environment positive for all are:

- * be welcoming to new participants
- * stand up for others if you see or hear them being harassed and/or report this to a TMT staff member
- * learn about other cultures
- * take responsibility to understand more about how disabilities can affect people and how you can be of assistance if needed
- * don't use discriminatory language
- * don't harass or bully others in any way
- * make the most of the opportunities that working with others who are different to you offers - it's an opportunity to learn
- * be aware that people will have values and beliefs that may sometimes clash with yours - this doesn't make them wrong, just different
- * don't be worried by difference - you'll be surprised how easy it is to talk to people when you approach them with a positive attitude

TMT management can provide you with more information and options on dealing with harassment and discrimination. If an individual and the organisation cannot resolve the situation between themselves, they can go through the formal channels of the Anti-Discrimination Commission.

Support Services

Our Student Support Officer will review students' progression and assist with any matters the participant wishes to raise.

If you have any special needs, you may discuss these with your trainer, who will assist if they can or refer you appropriately. This includes:

- * problems with language, literacy or numeracy

- * problems with digital literacy
- * other special needs in order to complete your course of study
- * discussion about personal issues if it is affecting your study
- * study effectiveness
- * course issues, policies and procedures

Participants are assessed on their literacy and numeracy skills as part of the enrolment process, for some courses they may be required to complete a separate LLN assessment. Where literacy and numeracy deficiencies are identified, TMT will work with the participant to develop a plan to address the learning gaps. Interventions may include but will not be limited to additional training assistance, referral to other agencies, flexible delivery and assessment, and other activities deemed appropriate.

Students with other special needs are encouraged to discuss support services with TMT staff. Examples of support may include:

- * Hearing impairment – Course Information and notes may be provided to the participant prior to course commencement for participant to pre-read. Depending on the level of hearing impairment a participant may wish to bring a support person with sign language skills. This person would assist in the communication between the participant and the trainer in both course delivery and assessment.
- * Vision impairment – Delivery and assessment could be offered verbally in a classroom situation, or reader software utilised if this is what the student has on their computer.
- * Physical handicaps – Depending on the level of handicap, delivery and assessment may be a combination of verbal and written.
- * Intellectual handicap – The delivery time for the course may need to be extended as support would be required to ensure participants understand all of the delivery and assessment. Depending on the level of handicap, delivery and assessment may be a combination of verbal and written.

Health & Safety

Total Management and Training recognises that safety is an essential part of all its activities and aims to safeguard, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare at work of all its staff, participants and visitors. We encourage an attitude which accepts good safety practice as normal.

Participants should always conduct themselves in a safe manner.

The Work Health and Safety Act 2011 and subordinate legislation requires that employers and others ensure the health and safety of people who may be affected by workplaces, workplace activities or specified high risk plant. To meet these requirements TMT will provide safe systems of work, a safe environment, safe plant and equipment and staff who are competent.

The Work Health and Safety Act 2011 requires that you look after your own health and safety and that of others. You must:

- * follow the instructions given by TMT for the health and safety of yourself and others
- * use personal protective equipment if it is provided and you have been trained in its use

You must not:

- * deliberately interfere with or misuse anything provided for work health and safety
- * deliberately do something that could endanger the work health and safety of any person
- * deliberately do something where you could injure yourself

The following advice represents good safe practice and should be followed by all:

- * follow instructions
- * report anything which could injure or harm a person
- * report any faulty or malfunctioning equipment immediately
- * all accidents should be reported immediately to a responsible person in the area where they occur
- * make sure you know what to do in an emergency
- * if in doubt ASK

Your Health

If you become ill and need medical attention or advice, you should make arrangements to visit a medical practitioner's surgery as soon as possible. You should also report absences to TMT, with as much advance notice as is possible.

Smoking

Because of the dangers to health caused by smoking, and the duty of TMT to provide, as far as is reasonably practicable, a working environment which is healthy, all training venues are 'no-smoking' areas. This rule applies equally to participants, employees, contractors and other visitors to TMT. Your trainer will indicate the smoking zone at the beginning of the training.

Copyright

Under the copyright laws of Australia, a person who owns copyright in a 'work' has the exclusive right to make copies of that work. The copyright owner may permit others to make copies of the work. 'Copying' includes photocopying, scanning, faxing, and digitising.

If you reproduce material protected by copyright without the permission of the copyright owner, you may infringe copyright. Reproducing part of a work may also infringe copyright, even if the part is important. A copyright owner is entitled to take legal action against a person who infringes his or her copyright.

It is a fair dealing to make a copy, for the purpose of research or study, of one or more articles on the same subject matter in a periodical publication or, in the case of any other work, of a reasonable portion of a work. In the case of a published work that is of not less than 10 pages and is not an artistic work, 10% of the total number of pages, or one chapter, is a reasonable portion.

More extensive copying may constitute fair dealing for the purpose of research or study. To determine whether it does, it is necessary to have regard to the criteria set out in the Copyright Act 1968.

Total Management and Training does not authorise you to make infringing reproductions of copyright material. It is your responsibility to make sure that any reproductions you make do not infringe copyright.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the unlawful use and reproduction of another persons' work without correct acknowledgement. Plagiarism includes both directly copying or reproducing another persons' work or rephrasing another person's ideas, quotes, images, graphs or data and claiming it as your own.

Plagiarism is not accepted or tolerated for any assessments issued as part of your qualification at TMT. If a student is found to have plagiarised their work; their assessments will not be marked and the student will be issued a not-yet-competent.

If you have any questions in relation to this, please discuss this with your trainer and they will happily assist.

TMT also reserves the right to withdraw tuition from any participant who does not comply with TMT rules and any decision will be regarded as final.

Collection of Unique Student Identifier (USI)

Your USI is a unique number given to you which will help keep your training records and results together in an online account controlled by you. By having a USI you will be able to access your training records and results (or transcript) whenever you need them. For example, for a new employer or when you enrol to study at a new training organisation.

From 1 January 2015 all RTO's must report a USI for every student enrolled. TMT don't assign USI numbers, they are generated electronically when students log into the www.usi.gov.au website.

If you do not have a USI, please to go to www.usi.gov.au and follow the prompts to obtain your number. If you do have a USI, please ensure you write this clearly on your enrolment form, and provide your first name, surname and date of birth as it appears on your identification documents, for verification purposes.

If you would like us to obtain your USI number on your behalf, you will need to provide us with permission, fill in a form, and send us a copy of one piece of ID such as a driver's license, Medicare card, Australian passport or similar. Due to the work involved in getting us to retrieve your number, it is far easier for you to do this yourself via the USI webiste.

Students must provide their USI number within 2 weeks of either enrolling with TMT or completion of training (whichever is sooner) otherwise additional fees will be payable as per Appendix 1 – Fees and Charges.

Collection of personal data

As a Registered Training Organisation in Queensland, we must comply with the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015.

In particular, we must ensure that we collect appropriate statistical data on behalf of our National VET Regulator, the Australian Skills Quality Authority (www.asqa.gov.au) and the National Centre for Vocational Education Research (www.ncver.edu.au).

We as an RTO cannot accept your enrolment unless this information has been collected. The information collected will not be provided to any recipient other than the registering body as required by the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015.
